PARTNERSHIPS

PARTNERHIP/COLLABORATION

The Division of Rehabilitation Services (DRS) desires to work in partnership and collaboration with local education agencies, Regional Education Service Agencies (RESA) and other agencies to provide vital and results-oriented services to transition-aged students with disabilities.

PURPOSE OF THE TRANSITION SERVICES PLANNER

The purpose of this Transition Services Planner is to provide information to educators about the Division of Rehabilitation Services. It is an instrument to help educators and DRS staff bridge the transition requirements of IDEA and WIOA while providing meaningful and effective transition services to students with disabilities. The Planner will facilitate discussion between local educators and DRS staff.

This planning effort will help:

1. Promote a coordinated effort among the local education agencies, Regional Educational Service Agency (RESA) and the local Division of Rehabilitation Services Office;
2. Implement strategies that will facilitate effective transition services and eliminate duplication of services; and,
3. Ensure the development of an effective partnership on behalf of students with disabilities.

The Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (IDEA)
requires that schools provide transition services to students with disabilities beginning at age 16 and link these students to appropriate adult service providers. Policy 2419: Regulations for the Education of Students with Exceptionalities allows transition planning to begin at a younger age if determined appropriate by the Individualized Education Program (IEP) Team.

Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 requires a 504 Plan. A 504 Plan is an educational plan developed to ensure that a child who has a disability identified under the law and is attending an educational institution receives accommodations that will ensure their academic success and access to the learning environment.

The Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) requires state Vocational Rehabilitation agencies to coordinate with schools for students with disabilities regarding Pre-Employment Transition Services.
TRANSITION ROLES
West Virginia Division of Rehabilitation Services (DRS) Pre-Employment Transition Services (Pre-ETS) Counselors provide transition-related services including Pre-Employment Transition Services (Pre-ETS) for schools throughout the state.

West Virginia DRS understands that transition planning is an essential function of schools and other agencies.

It is critical for West Virginia DRS staff to become familiar with the transition services the school is providing. Teachers and district transition specialists should be involved in developing the Transition Partnership Planning Form. This will help to avoid confusion on the part of school personnel regarding services West Virginia DRS will provide and the services that will be provided by the school. West Virginia DRS services should supplement services provided by the school and not supplant those services. It is important that the nature and scope of services provided by each entity is clearly understood by all parties.

TEAM APPROACH
West Virginia DRS staff members work in teams to provide a broad base of knowledge and experience to assist students with disabilities. Both a specialized knowledge of disabilities and the implications for employment are available through our specialists in assistive technology, independent living, counseling and job placement.

Although only one West Virginia DRS staff member may be working directly with the student, other team members may be involved—providing input as needed at key decision points. In selected situations, DRS Specialists elsewhere in the state may assist with a student’s planning. This might occur where more specialized knowledge of a rehabilitation service such as assistive technology is needed, or more information is needed in the case of a specific disability.

SERVICES
The role of West Virginia DRS in providing services to students is primarily one of planning and helping to identify appropriate post-school goals and needed supports that lead to employment. Only students with disabilities are eligible to receive Pre-Employment Transition Services (Pre-ETS) and this generally includes students 14-21 years old, who are eligible for and receiving special education or related services under Part B of IDEA, or individuals with a disability, for the purposes of Section 504.

West Virginia DRS staff will be available in cooperation with existing services to provide and supplement:

1. Job exploration counseling;
2. Work-based learning experiences which may include in-school or after-school opportunities or experience outside the traditional school setting (including internships), are provided in an integrated environment to the maximum extent possible;
3. Counseling on opportunities for enrollment in comprehensive transition or postsecondary educational programs or institutions of higher education;
4. Workplace readiness training to develop social skills and independent living; and
5. Instruction in self-advocacy, which may include peer mentoring.

West Virginia DRS staff members provide Pre-Employment Transition Services (Pre-ETS) to students who are eligible or potentially eligible for DRS services. Pre-Employment Transition Services Counselors serve only students in high school within the age range of 14-21.
Students in high school may apply for West Virginia DRS services to assist them with preparing for and ultimately meeting their employment goal. Students continue with DRS for a minimum of 90 days after obtaining successful employment.

Student with a disability:
- 14-21
- Eligible for and receiving special education services under an Individualized Education Program (IEP)
- Student receiving services under a Section 504 Plan

Potentially eligible:
- Students with a disability who have not yet applied or been made eligible for DRS services

Questions for your West Virginia Division of Rehabilitation Services Pre-Employment Transition Services Counselor:
STUDENTS AGES 14-21

Students need opportunities to:

Develop awareness of life after school through:
- Career Exploration
- Transition Fairs
- Job fairs
- Presentations and group discussions about the world of work

Address employment success skills through:
- Work ethic
- Behaviors
- Attitude
- Communication
- Daily living skills
- Self-Advocacy skills

Identify interests and strengths through:
- Job shadowing
- Interest assessments
- Aptitude assessments
- Work experience
- Vocational counseling
- Informational interviews

Students ages 14 to 21 will begin to engage in activities designed to narrow their interests and identify post school goals through: job exploration counseling; work-based learning experiences; counseling on opportunities for enrollment in comprehensive transition or postsecondary educational programs or institutions of higher education; workplace readiness training to develop social skills and independent living; and self-advocacy training.

West Virginia DRS may assist in providing some group services such as transition fairs, group presentations, and employment success skills training for groups.
COLLABORATION CHART

Collaboration Between West Virginia DRS and Schools

Q. How does the West Virginia DRS program fit within the transition process and support school and post-school activities?

A. The following chart and description illustrate how West Virginia DRS may assist the school in meeting the career needs of students with disabilities.

POST SECONDARY

Post-school activities include provision of services developed in conjunction with the student, parents and educators during the IPE planning process. These services are often planned in conjunction with other community programs or agencies even while the student is in school and can overlap services provided while the student is still in school. The services might include: independent living training, assistive technology accommodations and modifications, employment success skills training, job seeking skills and advocacy. It may also include financial assistance for support services, job coaching, on-the-job training, vocational and college training. Job placement services are provided as an essential part of the IPE. Students who obtain employment will be monitored for a minimum of 90 days to help them maintain employment.

POTENTIALLY ELIGIBLE

West Virginia DRS will serve students who are potentially eligible for DRS services. This includes students with disabilities who have not yet applied or been determined eligible for DRS services.

Students who are potentially eligible for DRS services may participate in group services such as college visits, Transition Fairs, career fairs or job application skills provided in a group. Group services do not include individualized services directly related to an IPE-PT.

POST SCHOOL

Training:

- College
- Vocational
- On-the-Job

Considerations:

- Support Services
- Self-Advocacy
- Job Seeking Skills
- Employment Success Skills
- Independent Living
- Accomodations/Modifications
- Financial Assistance
- Job Placement

---

POST EMPLOYMENT

- Follow-up
- Employment Satisfaction

Students who are eligible for and require services through West Virginia DRS will develop an:

- Individualized Plan for Employment-Transition (IPE-PT)
- Individualized Plan for Employment High School prior to Graduation (IPE-HS)

If a student drops out of school, West Virginia DRS can continue to provide services.
REFERRAL PROCESS

Who should refer students? Special educators, guidance counselors, school nurses, school psychologists, speech language pathologists, administrators and regular educators may refer students to West Virginia Division of Rehabilitation Services.

Who should be referred? Refer students verified for special education, students under a 504 Accommodation Plan with a verified disability and other students with disabilities that are not considered to impact their educational program.

When should a referral be made? Students may be referred at age 14 to begin the process of engaging the services of the West Virginia Division of Rehabilitation Services.

What is the referral process? Complete a referral form and submit to the Pre-Employment Transition Services (Pre-ETS) Counselor. The Pre-ETS Counselor will contact the student and parent or guardian. An appointment will be scheduled at the earliest possible time to provide an orientation to the West Virginia Division of Rehabilitation Services, complete an application for services and sign appropriate release of information forms so that eligibility can be determined.

SCHOOL CONTACT

When will the Pre-ETS Counselor come to your school? The Pre-ETS Counselor will be available to students and staff at your school as time permits. Given the limited time available to educators and Pre-ETS Counselors it may be helpful if there is a set schedule. If a set schedule is not indicated, all meetings should be arranged in advance. A procedure should be in place to communicate unforeseen changes to schedule.

STUDENT RELEASE TIME CONSIDERATIONS

- How will time be scheduled for the Pre-ETS Counselor to meet with students?
- When and where will the Pre-ETS Counselor meet with students?
- How will class release time be handled?
INFORMATION EXCHANGE

How will student records be made available? The Pre-Employment Transition Services (Pre-ETS) Counselor will need copies of student records for eligibility and planning purposes. The Pre-ETS Counselor will need copies of the Eligibility Committee (EC) Report and IEP with diagnosis, psychological report and any available vocational records for career planning. The Division of Rehabilitation Services and the school will need appropriate release forms signed by the parents or guardians. Student records released to the Division of Rehabilitation Services through an information release will remain confidential as specified on the release forms. Release forms will be signed at the time of application for DRS. The Pre-Employment Transition Services (Pre-ETS) counselor will seek records from outside sources as necessary and with the appropriate permission.

FEEDBACK TO EDUCATORS

The Pre-ETS Counselor will provide periodic status updates to the school on referred students, including vocational evaluation reports, pre-employment and employment assessments, career exploration, etc.

OUTREACH TO STUDENTS AND PARENTS

West Virginia DRS staff welcome the opportunity to meet with parents as well as with students to provide information about rehabilitation services and employment opportunities. As time permits, the Pre-ETS Counselor can be available for parent/teacher conferences and meetings with parent groups at school or elsewhere in the community.

Questions:

- How will information be exchanged?
- What information will be helpful to you about West Virginia’s Division of Rehabilitation Services’ involvement with a student?
- What outreach activities does the school provide that should involve DRS participation?
- Are there any school release forms that may involve the Pre-ETS Counselor?
ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

Students who receive intensive DRS services must be determined eligible. A person is eligible for DRS services if all of the following conditions are met:

- He/she has a physical or mental impairment
- The impairment constitutes or results in a substantial impediment to employment
- He/she can benefit in terms of an employment outcome from the provision of DRS services
- He/she requires DRS services to prepare for, enter, engage in or retain gainful employment

It is presumed that a person is capable of benefiting in terms of an employment outcome from the provision of DRS services, unless there is clear and convincing evidence to the contrary.

The DRS Counselor will make the determination of eligibility based on a variety of sources including an interview with the individual, a review of the student’s records, and if necessary, outside medical reports. In most situations the DRS Counselor will be able to determine eligibility very easily from school records and an interview with the individual. Students with a disability may or may not have an IEP or 504 Plan in order to be eligible for DRS services.

STUDENT PLANNING

The Individualized Plan for Employment - IPE (not to be confused with the IEP) is the planning tool WVDRS staff use to help clients plan for employment success. It is a structured approach that helps clients answer the following key questions:

- What is my job goal?
- What help do I need to get to my goal?
- When will I reach my goal?
- Who will help me?
- When will my plan start?
- Who will pay for what?

In order for the client to select a job goal and develop their plan for employment success, they will need to consider their interests, what is important to them in a job, what concerns they have that will interfere with getting a job, and what jobs are a good match for them. WVDRS staff will be available to work with students and educators in developing the IPE. Pre-ETS resources can be blended into existing career planning curriculum at the school or used as a stand-alone resource. The WV Pre-ETS Counselor can discuss ways in which Pre-Employment Transition Services can be used at your school to benefit students with disabilities.

A Few Examples of Impairments:

Physical/Medical: cerebral palsy, hearing impairment, juvenile rheumatoid arthritis, diabetes, spina bifida, cystic fibrosis, orthopedic impairment, heart condition, dyslexia, ADHD, TBI, autism

Mental Health: depression, anxiety, bipolar disorder, obsessive compulsive disorder, PTSD, oppositional defiant disorder, drug/alcohol abuse, adjustment disorder

Learning: specific learning disability, intellectual disability, autism, speech/language impairment

Division of Rehabilitation Services Involvement in the Individualized Education Program – IEP:

DRS Counselors welcome invitations to attend IEP meetings. Attendance can be in person, by conference call or other types of media connection. It is important to give as much prior notice as possible so that scheduling can be arranged.

It may not be possible for DRS staff to attend all IEPs to which they are invited. Educators and DRS Counselors should collaborate in prioritizing which IEPs are most important to attend. Educators are required to get prior consent from parents/guardians when outside agencies are invited to the IEP Team meeting.
It is critical that DRS activities in the school supplement the role and activities of the school—and not replace what the school is doing or is required to do. Schools have the primary responsibility for transition services. DRS can play an important role in helping students plan for employment and successful community life. DRS is committed to providing proactive services. Helping to guide young people and parents toward appropriate vocational or training goals is a significant service. In transition, it is the movement toward job readiness and vocational maturity that is critical. Ultimately, any service that DRS provides must relate to students becoming successfully employed in the community.

Services may include:

- Presentations to parents and students on West Virginia Division of Rehabilitation Services and disability and employment issues
- Consultation with teachers
- Transition fairs for students
- Information and links to adult agencies
- Transition planning through Parent/Teacher Conferences
- Instruction in self-advocacy
- Emphasis on the development of social skills and independent living skills
- Other information and planning activities to facilitate preparation for the transition process
- Vocational evaluation
- Selected vocational testing and career counseling at the school
- Benefits analysis and financial planning for employment success
- Identification and problem solving of a student’s barriers to employment
- Development of Individualized Plan for Employment (IPE) and assistance in identifying needed supports to prepare for and obtain employment
- College tours and orientation to college planning
- Independent living and self-advocacy support
- On-the-Job Training at the school or in the community
- Skill training
- Job Seeking Skills training and development of an individualized job search plan
- Employment Success Skills training
- Job placement assistance and follow along support
- Certificate Programs
JOB TRAINING OR WORK EXPERIENCE

Work experience: Work experience for exploratory purposes is educational in nature and is the responsibility of educators. However, DRS may collaborate in and provide work experience for students approaching their last year in school where the experience is needed as a supplement to vocational guidance or vocational assessment.

Job Coaching: It is possible for West Virginia DRS to provide or pay for job coaching. The job coach provides training for specific job skills that are consistent with the student's employment goal. DRS would assist with finding the job and in assuring that it is a good match for the student.

Supported Employment: Supported employment is a training option available to persons receiving services from DRS. This employment service is often appropriate for students who experience significant disabilities. Supported employment requires a job coach for the initial and intensive training, as well as long-term intermittent support to insure the individual is successful on the job. West Virginia DRS cannot provide the long-term support. DRS would not be able to enter into a supported employment service unless another disability funding agency was able to provide the long-term support.

PARTNERSHIP PLANNING

Developing the Agreement: The Transition Partnership Planning Form is a planning document that lists important issues that need to be discussed by the local school representative and the West Virginia DRS staff member. The planning form gives those involved an opportunity to discuss and decide how operational matters will be handled, such as:

- Who should be referred?
- How will students be referred?
- How will student information be shared?
- Where will services be provided?
- What type of feedback will be helpful for all parties?
- What services will be provided?
- Who will provide the services?
- What goals or priorities need to be pursued?
- How do we partner with other agencies?
- How will we evaluate our progress in this partnership?
The purpose of this Transition Partnership Planning Form is to promote a coordinated effort between the local school and the local Division of Rehabilitation Services office in providing an effective transition from school to work for students with disabilities. Prior to agreeing to the operating procedures below, educators are encouraged to review the Transition Services Planner, a guide for educators in coordinating DRS services for students with disabilities.
