GRADUATION is just the beginning...

What are your plans after high school?

Does your next step include college, apprenticeship, or a job?

Do you have limitations with any of these activities?

- Learning
- Communicating
- Hearing
- · Physical activities
- Seeing
- Coping with stress

You may be eligible for assistance from the West Virginia Division of Rehabilitation Services (DRS) to help you explore education and career-related paths.

DRS Counselors can help you get a job, enroll in a training program, or go to college after high school.

Find out more: 1-800-642-8207

Presented By

Your Future
Begins

NOW!

PathwaysWV.org

Administrative Offices • 107 Capitol Street Charleston, West Virginia 25301 wvdrs.org • 1-800-642-8207

WHAT does DRS do?

The West Virginia Division of Rehabilitation Services (DRS) helps eligible high school students prepare for their future education and employment.

Services include:

- · Job exploration counseling
- · Work-based learning experiences
- Counseling on education/training options after high school
- · Job readiness skills training
- · Self-advocacy instruction

DRS can help you continue your education through:

- Community rehabilitation programs
- Vocational schools
- Community and technical colleges
- · State colleges and universities

WHO can apply?

Any student age 14-21 with a disability or limitation that impacts your ability to learn or work.

WHY apply?

- For transition services from high school to vocational training, postsecondary education or employment
- To receive vocational assessments, job training or possible financial assistance with postsecondary education/training
- For one-on-one support to develop a plan for employment that is based on your interests, needs and abilities

PathwaysWV.org

The Pathways to the Future website is a collection of resources, tools, and people to help students, including those with disabilities, through the journey from youth to adulthood.

Resources include:

Job/career exploration
Education/training options
Independent living skills
Partners to help along the way

